Definition of Clusters

No universal definition

- each method implicitly assumes a given structure
- some methods can produce clusters even if there are none

Examples of definition

- groups of instances which are close to prototypes
- regions of high density separated by regions of low density