Classic dense urban areas: city centres with root-like built-up patterns and detached houses aligned along roads with small distances between buildings.